

The Colorful Little Ghosts

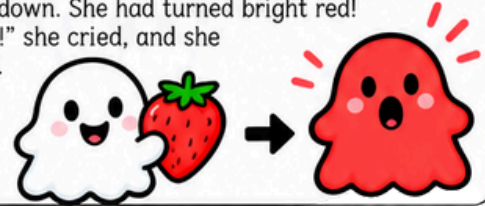

1. Mommy goes to the store.

Once upon a time, there was a mommy ghost who lived with her five little ghosts. Ghosts love white food! One morning, Mommy Ghost looked in the kitchen. "Oh my! We're almost out of white food. I need to go to the grocery store." She reminded her little ghosts, "While I'm gone, remember what happens when you eat colorful food. You might turn the same color as the food!" The little ghosts promised to remember, and Mommy ghost floated off to the store.

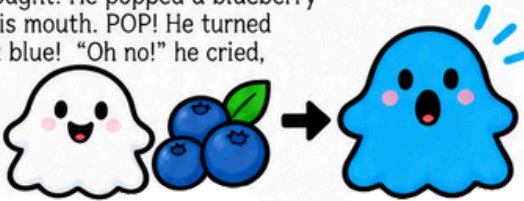

2. The strawberry ghost.

The five little ghosts went outside to play. The first little ghost saw a bright red strawberry. "Mmmm, that looks delicious! Surely one little strawberry will be okay." She took a bite. POP! The little ghost looked down. She had turned bright red! "Oh no!" she cried, and she floated.

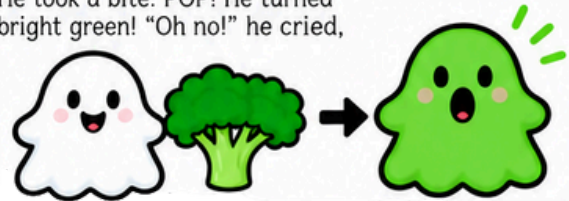

3. The blueberry ghost.

The next little ghost found some juicy blueberries. "Maybe just one won't do anything," he thought. He popped a blueberry into his mouth. POP! He turned bright blue! "Oh no!" he cried, and he floated red sister.

4. The broccoli ghost.

The third little ghost saw some broccoli. "I know I'm not supposed to eat colorful food, but I am so hungry!" He took a bite. POP! He turned bright green! "Oh no!" he cried,

5. The orange juice ghost.

The fourth little ghost was very thirsty. "Mommy said colorful food changes our color. Maybe a drink will be okay!" She took a big sip of orange juice. POP! She turned bright orange! "Oh no!" she cried, and she floated away to hide with the others.

6. The chocolate chip ghost.

Now there was only one little white ghost left. He found a bowl of chocolate chip ice cream. "The ice cream is mostly white. That should be okay!" So he ate one bite... then another... and another until the bowl was empty. POP! He turned into a chocolate chip ghost! "Oh my goodness!" He floated away to hide with his brothers and sisters.

7. Mommy comes home.

A little while later, Mommy Ghost returned from the grocery store. "Little ghosts! I'm home!" Nobody answered. She looked behind the chair, under the table, and outside. There she found them — one red ghost, one blue ghost, one green ghost, one orange ghost, and one chocolate chip ghost! Oh, my little ghosts!

8. The milk.

The little ghosts told Mommy all about the strawberry, blueberries, broccoli, orange juice, and chocolate chip ice cream. Mommy knew exactly what to do. She poured each little ghost a big glass of cold, white milk. "Drink up!" she said. The little ghosts drank every last drop.

9. Time for bed.

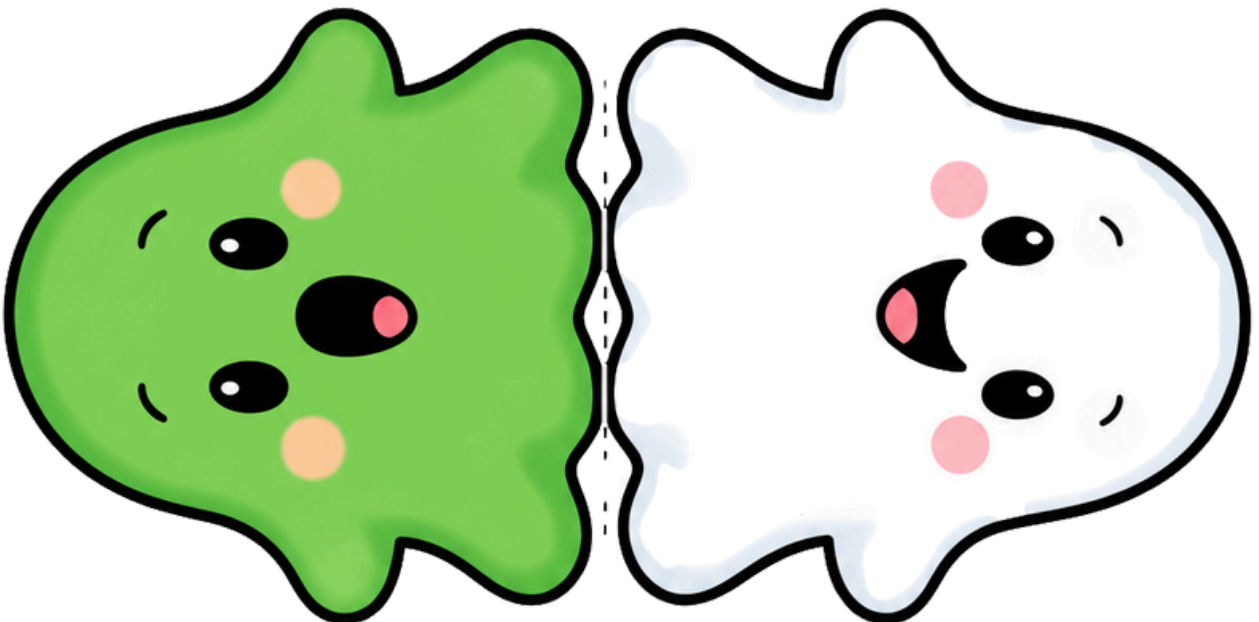

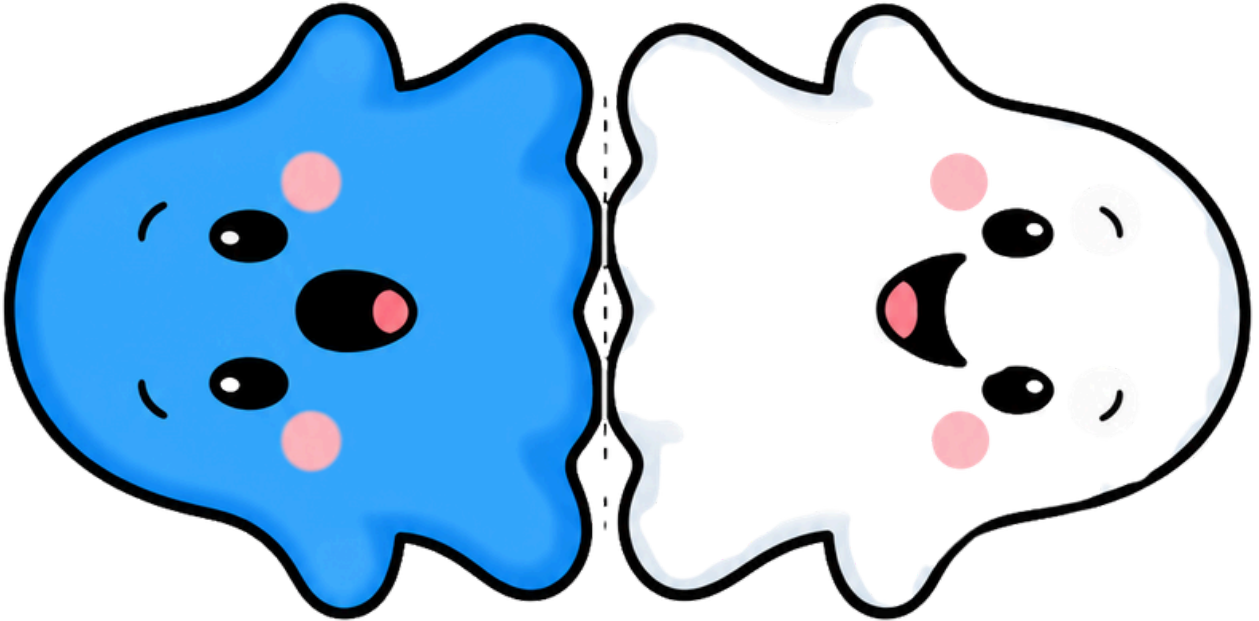

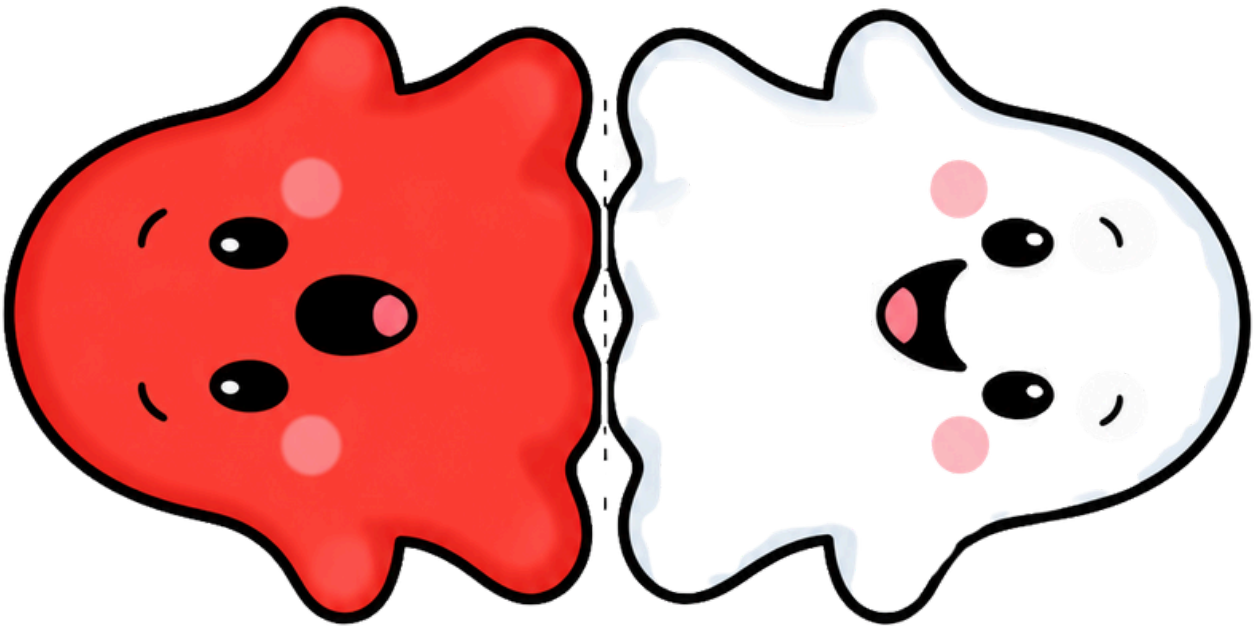

Then Mommy tucked all five ghosts into bed. "Goodnight, my colorful little ghosts," she said. They closed their eyes and went fast asleep.

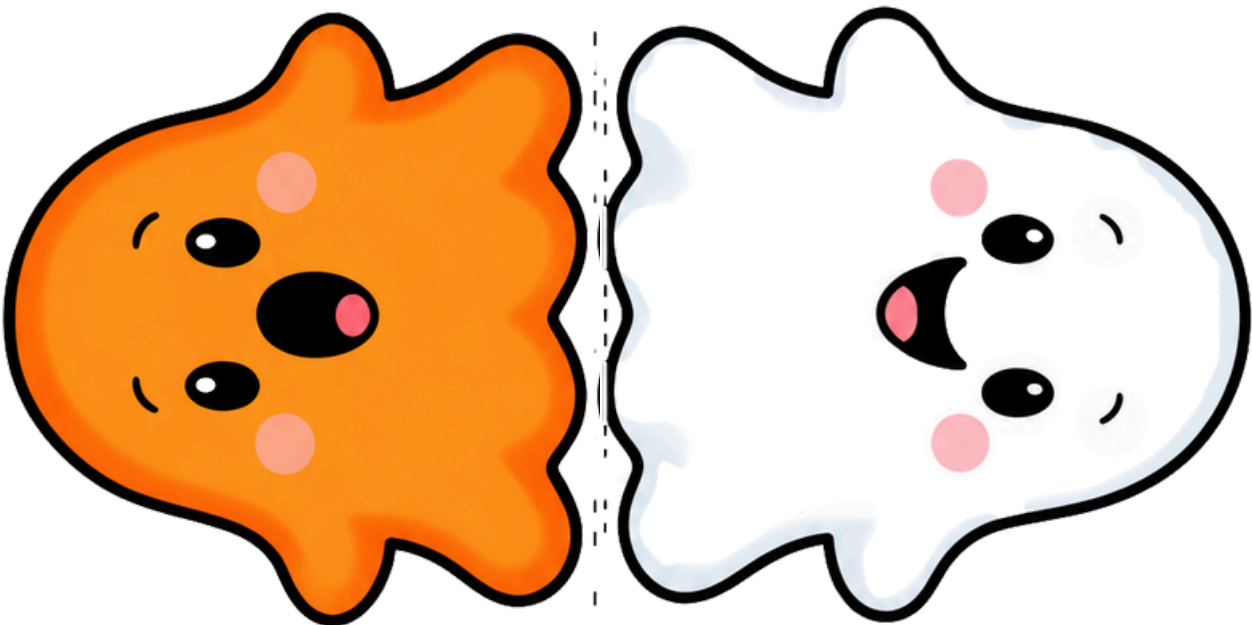

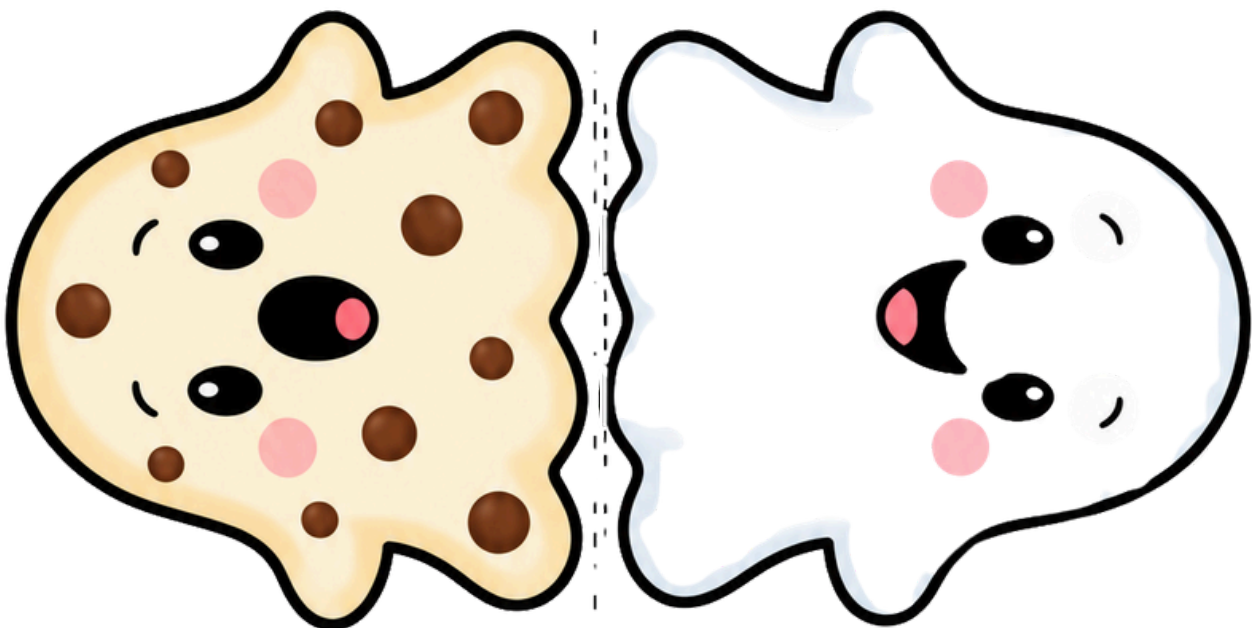

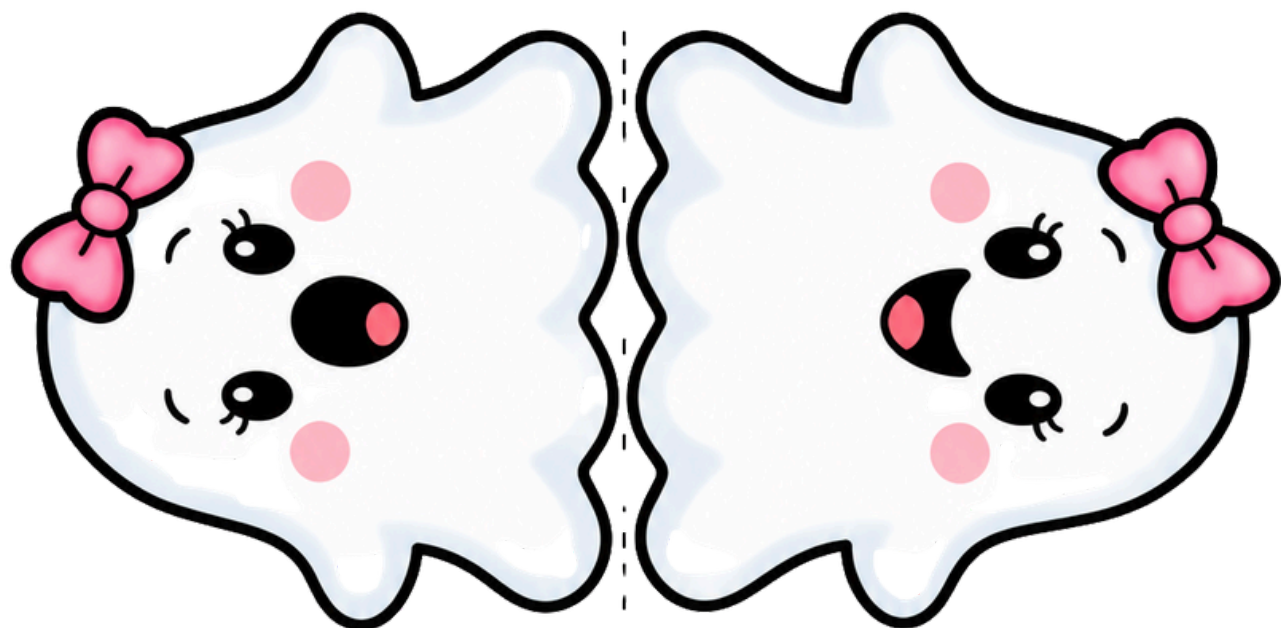

10. Ghostly white again!

When the sun came up the next morning, Mommy heard five excited voices. "LOOK AT US!" There stood all five little ghosts. No red, no blue, no green, no orange, no chocolate chips. They were all perfectly, wonderfully ghostly white again! And from then on, they always remembered the day they became... The Colorful Little Ghosts!
